JUDGE THOMAS P. COOK IS WIDELY MOURNED IN COUNTY

Distinguished Jurist Died Sunday in Hop- kinsville

IS BURIED HERE.

Hundreds of friends in Calloway county were shocked Sunday morning to learn of the death of Judge Thomas P. Cook, in Hopkinsville. Judge Cook had been ill for the past few weeks and his condition grew grave last week. His sons and daughters, including Mrs. Elmus J. Beale of this city, were at his bedside when the end came. Though Judge Cook's death was not entirely unexpected due to his age and the gravity of his illness, the shock was none the less intense. He was past 83 years old.

Thus a long and useful life closes. Kentucky loses an upright, splendid citizen, the bar an eminent and honorable member, the church a staunch and devoted member for more than 50 years. His city and county a loyal and spirited leader and his family a devoted husband and kind, loving and generous father.

Native of Calloway
Judge Thomas P. Cook was a native of Calloway county where he lived until 1910 when he moved to Hopkinsville. In June, 1884, he was married to Miss Sue Holton, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Henry E. Holton. This year, the couple, which was devoted and happy for more than 50 years, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary and Judge Cook's 83rd birthday. All the sons and daughters and most of the grandchildren joined them at their home in Hopkinsville for these anniversaries.

Mrs. Cook survives him as do two daughters, Mrs. Elmus J. Beale, Murray; Mrs. Flavius B. Martin, Mayfield, and three sons, Holton Cook, Mayfield; Thomas Diltz Cook, Battle Creek, Mich.; and Granville Cook, Cleveland, Ohio. There are ten surviving grandchildren, Flavius Martin, Jr., Harriet Diltz Martin and Elizabeth and Thomas Cook, of Mayfield; Emily, Susan, and Billy Cook, of Battle Creek, Mich.; and Jimmy, and baby Cook, Cleveland. Also a large connection of relatives in Murray and the county and other states.

Outstanding Lawyer

Judge Cook was an outstanding lawyer in this section for more than 60 years. As a young man he served this county as county attorney and in 1896 was elected to the office of circuit judge. He served the district in that capacity for two six-year terms, retiring in 1910. At the close of his term of office he and his family moved to Hopkinsville where he followed a large and lucrative practice until the handicap of his years removed him from the court room a greater part of the time.

As an attorney he was devoted to the interests of his client and the requirements of justice, as a judge he was noted for wide and fair and praised often for his fairness and knowledge and interpretation of the law.

Judge Cook was the youngest of 13 children and the last surviving member of one of the oldest and pioneer families of the county.

He was highly respected and greatly admired and beloved by all who knew him for the many noble attributes of character that he manifested on all occasions and in every circumstance. He had a large circle of friends in every section of Kentucky and many parts of Tennessee who join the family in mourning his death.

He met the end, as he had lived, with calmness and unflinching faith and crossed the great divide as "one who knocks at the gates of eternal morning."

Funeral at Hopkinsville

Funeral services were conducted from the First Christian Church in Hopkinsville Tuesday morning by the pastor, the Rev. Walker, in the presence of an overflow crowd of Judge Cook's relatives and many friends. The remains were brought to Murray for interment in the soil of his native land and a short and beautiful service was conducted at the grave by the Rev. E. B. Motley, pastor of the First Christian Church of Murray, assisted by the Rev. Walker.

A number of Murray friends attended the services in Hopkinsville and a large crowd of friends here went to the cemetery to pay the last tributes of respect. Many beautiful floral offerings were tendered by Murray friends of Judge Cook and the family.

The pallbearers were Oscar Holland, W. E. Marberry, Treman Beale, W. S. Swann, Foreman Gra-

Re-arrange Sheriff's Office, Ladies' Room

The sheriff's office in the south-east corner of the court house and the ladies rest room have been re-arranged. The work was finished the first of this week.

The old sheriff's office in the corner has been divided. The rear portion will be a private office for the sheriff and the front half will be the new ladies rest room. While smaller than the old ladies' rest room, west of the sheriff's office it has been made more convenient.

The room formerly used as the ladies' rest room will serve in the future as the sheriff's front office. The new arrangement will be more satisfactory.

JONES, SUNBURST MEET TONITE IN 3 OUT OF 5 PLAY-OFF SERIES

Druggists Nose Out Model 4-3 to Win Second Half

THRILLS CROWD

Fans journeyed to the softball field in the largest numbers this half Tuesday night to see the second-half championship game between the Jones Drug ten and the Model Cleaners team. They were expecting a good game and they were not disappointed, the Pill Rollers nosing out the Dirt Chasers 4 to 3 in a contest that was thrilling from the first pitched ball to the last out and often brought the crowd to its feet with exciting plays.

After two scoreless innings, Stewart for the Model pulling out of a dangerous hole in the first, broke the ice with a pair of runs in the last of the third after two were out. All the runs were scored on errors, Huie booting Jeffries' grounder, Bell misplaying Baird's slow hit ball by overthrowing first and Jones dropping Stewart's pop fly. Baird was credited with a hit and Bell charged with an error for his bad throw.

Jones retaliated promptly when they came to bat in the fourth. Banks, Outland and Wilson singled in succession, Banks counting when Purdue dropped a throw intended to catch "Slick" when he over-ran the base toward home. In the play at home, Outland galloped and was tagged by Jones.

Stewart and Purdue Outland, on the hill for Jones, then continued in locked pitching horns with honors about even until the sixth when Model again forged ahead.

After Stewart had fled to Wallis in deep center, Rule errored on Dewese's grounder, Holland singled, Dewese holding run outburst. Lynn Grove's single marker in the fifth proved to be the winning run as Pine Bluff bounced back with a pair in the sixth when Bell hit a homer with O. Elkins on base.

Lynn Grove promptly nipped the rally by retiring the next three men in order. Buron Jeffrey's walk led to the winning run in the fifth.

Pine Bluff opened strong as Thomas, O. Elkins and Bell hit in succession. Thurman popped to short but Lawson delivered a double and Salyer the fifth hit of the inning after Willoughby had fled to center.

Pogue opened Lynn Grove's half of the round with a single. Buron Jeffrey popped to short field but G. Crouch came through with a long triple. J. D. Rogers followed with a double and Fleetwood Crouch and T. Cochrane got singles before J. Sims fled to center field. With two out and the score knotted, L. Rogers got another double and H. Jones singled him home. Hall forced Jones to end the batanza round, the entire team having batted.

Pine Bluff went out in order in the second and third, and again in the fifth and seventh. In the sixth they got their two runs, just short of a tie as recounted. In the fourth, Lawson opened with a double and Salyer the fifth hit of the inning after Willoughby had fled to center.

Pogue was touched for seven hits while the Wildcats got eight off Bell, the Pine Bluff hurler. Fielding highlights were turned in by G. Crouch. Lynn Grove second baseman, with three sensational plays and Rogers contributed twice plays at third base. Thurman made some fine plays at short for Pine Bluff.

Thurman, of the Bluff team, and Rogers, of the Lynn Grove ten, also hit homers while G. Crouch drove in three of the four runs the team scored with a double in the third while the bases were loaded.

In the final game, the bulk of the scoring was accomplished in the first inning. Pine Bluff again jumped off in the lead with a four run splurge but Lynn Grove promptly came back and took charge of the situation with a sixrun outburst. Lynn Grove's single marker in the fifth proved to be the winning run as Pine Bluff bounced back with a pair in the sixth when Bell hit a homer with O. Elkins on base.

Calloway Schools Being Inspected

Dr. J. A. Outland, Calloway county health officer, has completed his inspection of ten schools on the East side of the county and has found underweight to be the greatest defect. Typhoid vaccinations are being given and five weeks will be needed to complete the first inspection of all schools in the county.

opened the fourth with a double but was stranded when Pogue, Jones and Hall were easy outs. Pine Bluff got eight hits while Lynn Grove amassed nine. Bell and Lawson each got two for the east side team while J. Sims was the only Lynn Grove player to get two hits, neither of which figured in the scoring.

Bell's home run and G. Crouch's triple were the longest hits of the evening.

Local fans were much pleased with the style of play offered by the county teams. The county league will be in the field next year, it is assured.

CITY SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY; TRAINING SCHOOL TUESDAY

District Log Rollers To Meet Here in Oct.

Announcements Made by Superintendent Caplinger

FREE TEXT BOOKS

With confident expectations of one of the best school years in many, higher salaries for the underpaid teachers who have made many sacrifices to maintain the city school system and the training school at standard during the past three years, the city schools of Murray, including the colored school, will open Monday and the college training school Tuesday.

Carman Graham is the new principal of the training school which is returning to a full four-year high school.

No one has been invited to make the opening address at Murray high school for the simple reason that the entire opening session will be required for opening announcements and explanations by Superintendent Caplinger.

Mr. Caplinger has made the following important announcement, which should be read closely by every patron. It follows:

"Vacation for the 'kiddies' is about over. Monday morning the white and colored schools begin the regular school year and Tuesday morning the Training School opens up in full blast with its former full curriculum of all the grades from the primary through the senior high school."

Carman Graham is the new principal of the Training School and Ed Filbeck, of the city high school. Other new members of the Training School faculty are Clifton Thurman, head of the mathematics department and Miss Virginia Overall, head of foreign languages. All of the other faculty members of both schools remain the same as last year.

"President John W. Carr of the College announces three full curricula in the Training High School with a teacher in each department, a specialist in that field and every teacher with graduate degrees. Other faculty members of the college will teach in the special fields of music and home economics, making a total faculty of 14."

"As is our custom, preferences will be given in enrollment to those children and parents who have been previously attending the Training School. The bus will convey the smaller children to and from the school as in former years."

"No tuition will be charged in the first six grades to any child in the city or the Walls and Gardin districts. The fee in the high school of the Training School will be $12 per semester but will be free to those students authorized to attend by the county board of education."

"The regular text books will be furnished free to children of all the schools in the first four grades but parents are required to sign individual receipts for each book and replace all lost or badly damaged ones. To avoid difficulties later parents will need to exercise particular attention to the care of their children's take of these state-supplied books."

"We would like to have the presence of the parents on the opening day in each school and would especially urge that the children enroll on the first day."

W. J. Caplinger, City Supt. and Director of Training School of Murray State College.

Other members of the faculties are: high school, Ed Filbeck, W. B. Moser, Preston Holland, Herbert Albritton, Mrs. Myra Weatherly, Mrs. Mary Wheeler, Mrs. Ben Grogan, Miss Frances Sexton, Miss Mary Lassiter, Miss Meadow Huie, Miss Rachel Hood, Miss Juliet Holton, Miss Margaret Holcomb, Miss Cattie Beale, Miss Lila Clayton Beale, Miss Lila Holland, Miss Louise Swann, Miss Mary Helen Broach, Miss Lucy Lee.

Training School, Carman Graham, Clifton Thurman, Miss Clara Rimmer, Miss Margaret Campbell, Miss Roberta Whitnah, Mrs. Nadine Overall, Miss Emma Helm, Miss Naomi Maple, Miss Mattie Trousdale, Miss Desires Beale, Miss Ola M. Brock, Miss Bertie Manon.

Colored school, Charles Rowlett, principal; Leon Miller, Blanche Green, Oron Ingram, Maceo Bradley.

Cuttings of alfalfa last month in Rockcastle county gave one ton per acre where lime, phosphate and inoculated seed were used. Only one-half ton per acre was yielded on other lands.

Relics—Preservation Regarding Stone

By Elmer T. Nixon

As we may in our endeavors to economize by putting forth an effort to conserve the various places of historical interest, it may be in our estimation a duty to preserve some of the camping, burial and village sites of our earlier American people—the "Mound Builders", and earlier Indians who lived in practically every locality now inhabited by their successors.

While virtually all of these grounds thus employed in this section of our country have been destroyed in so far as their originality is concerned, yet many of us have had the opportunity to collect some of the relics, or artifacts representative of these races. This is a pleasurable pursuit to many individuals of an archaeological inclination, not in a promiscuous way of merely collecting and throwing in a jumbled mass in some place, about the barns or other places where they may become broken and thus disfigured as well as disparaged in valuation, but either placed in boxes, or other receptacles as cabinet drawers where they may be kept secure from disfigurement, or as has been mounted on boards neatly arranged or placed in a show-case, and it may prove interesting to classify, or label as to the particular locality where found. That this type of collecting has not attained any more prominence is a hobby, or a pastime, or a due to various causes, but what may be taken as one of the principal reasons can be accounted for is a lack of interest in this nature of collecting; if one expects to succeed it is imperative that the collector takes an intelligent interest in this branch of archaeology, or the novelty of having specimens in possession may soon wear away, and the spirit of collecting become one of waning interest.

I wish to present some points of interest given in a publication primarily devoted to various collecting interests by a collector from the state of Missouri, and as the situation in the locality he refers to is very much characteristic with this and many other sections, much may be acquired in the way of a knowledge of how these specimens are found and treated. In substance it is something of this nature:

"In my section of the country fully 90 per cent of all the Indian relics found were originally picked up as surface finds by non-collectors. It is a lamentable fact that too large a per cent of these people are not even passively interested in them and are not in the least interested in their preservation as such.

"I have found valuable specimens that had been revived by these non-interested finders of them. Rare and delicate chipped specimens have been revived by some juvenile members of the family in his effort to strike fire from it.

"Splendid specimens of workmanship have been picked up and cast away again by having been thrown at a passing bird or dog. Many precious arrows have been ruthlessly broken in the small boy's effort to imitate the Indian archers. Numberless fine art have been scattered beyond recognition by laying around the home to be used in cracking nuts, or in driving nails or other objects when the implements for that purpose were not convenient.

"I have seen forgotten the old Negro in Southeast Missouri who had found many years before a beautiful vase in one of the numerous mounds in that vicinity. But positively refused to sell it to a local collector because if he sold it he would have nothing to put his tobacco in.

"The conditions I have mentioned are familiar to all collectors who reside in the rural sections where the relics are to be found. The question which has been uppermost in my mind, relative to them, is how to prevent the destruction of the relics of a by gone race.

"The plan I have adopted is as follows: I present my notes to the editors of the country newspapers. Generally I find them in sympathy with the movement. If so, I then write one or more articles relative to Indian relics, where and how found, some features about them and for what purpose. Emphasize the fact that those destroyed are gone for ever from future generations who will probably appreciate them more than we do.

"Finally I had them to preserve from destruction all that come their way. If they happen not to be interested in them themselves, I present them that they may get into hands that may care for them. I frankly tell them that I am not pleading with them to save them for me, but save them from destruction. I try to present the matter in a popular manner for if I do not, the people for whom it is meant to reach will not read it.

"I think several small articles or of a 'follow up' character better than one single appeal. I find this condition to be the result, the country soon becomes full of amateur collectors. 'Perhaps only one out of 20 persons becomes a real collector, the other 19 soon tire of them, they soon part with their small accumulation to the real collector, but they never become a destructionist again, but the end has been met in that they become preservers and not destroyers of specimens.

specimens. "Other collectors may have their methods of preventing the destruction of relics by the non-collecting, non-interested fellow who originally finds the specimen, but I have given you my method. My plea to fellow collectors is to adopt some practical method to meet this unfortunate condition and to push it for all it is worth.

"I trust that what I have written in this article will be both helpful and suggestive, but get busy in your own locality."

Hardin Highlights

By Edd Kellow

Hardin High School received a valuable addition Saturday morning when the county board employed Miss Blanche Booker to teach the junior high school. This will take a big burden off the shoulders of the other teachers.

The Hardin Blue Eagles opened their fall baseball campaign at Brewster Friday afternoon, and were on the long end of a 5-3 score. With Edward Jones pitching 3-hit ball, the Blue Eagles got off to an early start and never were behind. The girls' football team started for Brewster. The Blue Eagles will meet Brewster at Hardin Friday afternoon.

The summary:
Hardin 120 011 0 7 5 3
Brewster 003 000 0 3 3 4
Batteries: Jones and York; Owens, Cope and P. Trimble.

The Trojan Society got off to an early start as they have already beaten their rivals, the Vikings, twice. The girls' football team defeated the Vikings 9-6 and the boys winning 3-2.

Hazel Lamb, the charming blonde of the freshman class, is now leading in the popularity contest with 2,570 votes. Evelyn Jones is second with 2,560. Alice K. Darnall, third with 2,560, and Anne Lawrence, fourth with 1,200.

The Profitable Business of Not Raising Hogs

Geo. Bingham in Mayfield Messenger

In the morning mail, Dear George: Due to the fact that you have been able to answer all questions, and solve most of the problems that are sent in, I have decided to come to you with mine. Mr. Blank at Northampton has a friend who received a government check for one thousand dollars this year for not raising hogs. So Mr. Blank now proposes to get a farm and go into the business of not raising hogs, says in fact not raising hogs, says in fact not raising hogs, says in fact not raising hogs. Of course he will need hired man, and that is where I come in. I write you as to your opinion of the best kind of farm to raise hogs on and the best kind of hogs to raise, and how best to keep up inventory of the hogs you are not raising. Also do you think CAPITAL could be provided by issuance of a non-hog raising gold bond? His friend got the thousand dollars got it for not raising five hundred hogs. Now we figure we might easily not raise fifteen hundred or even two thousand hogs. So you see the possible profits are only limited by the number of hogs we do not raise. Looking for my letter and answer in your column. I am Sincerely Yours, A. C. Farmer. P. S. His friend who received $1000.00 check has only been hog raising for 40 years and the most he has ever made was $100.00 a year. Kind of pathetic to think how he wasted his life raising hogs when not raising them would have been so much more profitable.

South Howard Takes Two Labor Day Tilts

South Howard defeated Pine Bluff 4-1 Labor Day morning at the Bluff diamond. F. Clark was the winning pitcher for South Howard. Willoughby hurled for the East Siders.

On September 1, South Howard won over the Hazel All-Stars, 10-7. Brown, for South Howard, and Patterson for Hazel, were the pitchers.

Manager Webb gives the schedule for the next three games: Sept. 8, Hardin at Hardin; Sept. 14, Hardin at South Howard; Saturday, September 15, Pine Bluff at South Howard.

South Howard has enjoyed an unusual season, winning a great number of games with only a few defeats and are backed by a large crowd of loyal fans.

A survey made by the Los Angeles Advertising Club the other day shows that 86 per cent of all women and 57 per cent of the men watch for and read newspaper advertisements. Also that 77 per cent of the people pay no attention to advertising thrown in yards and on porches.

Protect the Children

The city schools and training school opening Monday should remind every motorist that he should take more care than usual in driving where and when children are about the streets. Drivers of automobiles are, on the whole, entirely too careless, as everyone well knows but surely any person with brains enough to climb under a wheel realizes that he or she must extra precautions when children are involved.

The mechanical element enters into it as well as the human element. While we have no interest in giving free advertising to the tire dealers, brake dealers and repair men it is a settled fact that the most careful and diligent driver is at a handicap with a defective car or brakes or street tires that will not grip the stick or road.

The Safety Institute of America has estimated that a large percentage of automobile wrecks and fatal run-downs of grown folks as well as children is due to antiquated cars that will not respond promptly to the drivers' wishes, defective brakes and worn tires.

One of the worst things that can be imagined is to run over some one's child and cripple it for life if not to snuff out its life. It is a horrible thing that would haunt one's soul to the grave. An extra precaution, a little more care in driving may avoid such a tragedy in your life and the life of your innocent victim.

It must be remembered that children live in a different world from adults. They are not thinking of you and your car for they are intent on their play. It's up

The American Liberty League might do well to remember that the Constitution was made for man and not man for the Constitution.

The State Fair promises faithfully to be "the best ever" this year. Senator Garth K. Ferguson has done a fine piece of work with the fair, putting it in "the black" last year for the first year in many. "Let's All Go."

Most of the folks around the square forgot to put out their flags Monday. There's nothing obligatory about putting out the flags on a holiday, it has just sorter gotten to be a custom here.

The drug stores were open as usual Monday. Did you ever stop to think that your druggist serves you more hours per week than any other merchant? People always expect a drug store to be open—and generally it is.

Stella Gossip

Three-fourths of the tobacco crop in Calloway county was cut and housed in August.

Big meetings have been held. Most all unconverted men and boys, disbelievers, refused to become members of the church. Lost!

Billy Adams, who lives near Ashberry, and another fellow had an auto collision in Murray last Saturday. Billy's Grandpa Morgan was hurt. I reckon the other fellow (?) was driving too fast. Death, death!

Mrs. Addie Cresson, returned home September 1 from Washington, D. C., where she visited her son, Lloyd Cresson the past two months. Attorney Cresson brought his mother home by motor. He took the way of Chicago Fair. Raymond Watson went to Washington with his cousin Lloyd to see what he could see.

Lightning struck Alvy Slaughter's cow stable, killed six hogs for Glen Kline. The other Workman farm and hit Sid Smith's tobacco patch.

Muncie Clark drives through here weekly with highway road maintainer and leaves our road in bully good fix.

High wind demolished an acre of cotton for Mrs. Bernice Morgan in big branch bottom on the old Van Cochran farm.

The farmers' livestock, corn, wheat, tobacco and cotton have "gone up" two hundred per cent which is FINE. Through the Coolidge and Hoover depression the farmers were crushed. Thousands of homes were sold at courthouse for taxes. I bought choice corn from Anderson Carter at 20 cents a bushel. I sold cotton at Murray gin for only 1 1/2 cent a pound. Good well fired tobacco sold on the floors at 2 cents a pound, lugs went at 50 cents per hundred, yes and 30 cents a 100 subtracted for floor expenses, which left 20 cents per 100 for lugs. Landlord got half of the tobacco. Of course the manufacturing companies and little rich haven't got a bit of respect or sympathy for the farmer. Even "Hambo" said "Yassah!"

Majority of men and boys have a leather belt drawn tight around their stomach to hold up their pants which extend down below the heels. Pants are all "legs no seat at all. Style? Yes and idiots. Mr. Kingina, our sheriff's Pa, said "no one but old men wore 'galluses' and his head's white as snow and he hasn't got any more hips than a snake. 'Neither have I, pore ole soul!' Eagle."

Several representatives who voted for the sales tax haven't paid any on the jobs they sold themselves into.

Upton Sinclair, winner of the Democratic nomination for Governor in California or the platform to "abolish poverty," is to visit the White House but it would be more appropriate for him to visit Palo Alto.

We hope the drivers' license will put an end to a lot of license that lots of drivers take.

We have had a number of questions pertaining to the seeding of 1934 wheat, when they have a tobacco contract. A short time ago we received a letter from the Compliance section stating contract signers who did not harvest wheat in 1932-1933 will not be complying if they sow wheat this fall. Those who have produced wheat these years can sow now more than one of these years.

The drought this year is going to make feed stuff high this fall and winter. Many farmers can save roughage that would go to waste and use it for feed and sell the good hay for a little income. Corn stover, or fodder, as it is commonly called, if cut and cured as soon as the ear ripens makes excellent feed.

Crab Grass if cut early will make fair feed. Weeds like Crab Grass if cut before matured and stacked out with salt sprinkled on while stacking, will be eaten readily during the winter if the stock can be turned to it. Winter-sown grains are excellent for winter feed if seeded early.

From State Commissioner Of Agriculture To The People Of The State

LOUISVILLE, KY., (Special).—State Commissioner of Agriculture, Eugene Flowers, is so enthusiastic over the prospects for the greatest State Fair in the 32 years' history of the institution, that he has issued the following letter to the people of the entire state:

To the People of Kentucky: As your Commissioner of Agriculture, and Chairman of your State Fair Board, I wish to say in all sincerity that your State Fair promises to be the greatest in the and pastured all winter and spring. Rye, oats and wheat are good for the poorer lands and barley, if seeded now, will make more pasture on the more fertile land.

Some are going to need lime this fall and if they will see the county agent we will try to secure it by the car. Have just received prices.

CAMP MURRAY CHATTERS

By Wm. H. Martin, Jr.

For perhaps the first time since the Christmas holidays Camp Murray assumed an air of inactivity as numbers of enrollees took advantage of Labor Day following Sunday and absented themselves on week-end leaves. Several availed themselves of the opportunity to visit nearby friends and relatives while a group of about 30 from northern Kentucky went on an extended day ride to Covington and vicinity.

Morning worship was in charge of Dr. J. E. Skinner of the First Baptist Church. Although our ranks were materially reduced due to holiday leaves a good number was in attendance to hear Dr. Skinner's instructive and inspiring message.

Members of the camp and friends in Murray are pleased to learn that Foreman Euc Smith, who recently underwent an operation at the William Mason Memorial Hospital, is improving to the extent that his release from that institution is considered imminent. Mr. Smith, joined this company at Hartford and has served continuously with us since its organization.

In one of the hottest games of the season a team composed of members of the Cubs and the camp softball team represented Camp Murray in the final match with the Columbus camp last Sunday afternoon. Week-end leaves so depleted the ranks of the Cubs that each man in the line-up was playing in a new position except Cunningham who with usual cogness acquitted himself well. In spite of their new organization every man displayed the highest team work and in a driving rain held their opponents to a tie until the tenth inning when Columbus gained a margin of two scores.

The Cubs, however, have won the district junior championship, having lost two games out of four. They are scheduled to play the winning veterans team at Madisonville this week.

Russell's Chapel

The Reverend Alderdice closed a week's meeting Friday night with four additions.

There will be a pie supper at Russell's Chapel Friday night, September 7. Everyone come.

more attractive prizes to exhibitors, as well as to secure more and better entertainment features for the Fair's visitors.

As to the live-stock, horticultural and other products of the farm and home, they, alone, will be well worth your going to see. But they are not all by any means; we have again arranged for the greatest horse show ever put together in America.

The agricultural-machinery and farm seed exhibits, will be the biggest in years. Then, we will have a State-Wide Beauty Contest in which the loveliest of our Kentucky beauties from all over the state, will compete for handsome prizes. There will also be other beauty contests for "red-headed" girls, blondes and other beauties; also, for baby children's games, daily athletic performances in our new $25,000 athletic field, and some forty big shows on the "Midway" something for every member of the family to see and enjoy.

We will also have a very impressive array of fine exhibits in the Fair's "million-dollar" mammoth Merchants and Manufacturers Building which everybody will want to see this year.

It is your Fair, and as your Commissioner of Agriculture, I want to see you, there. Come and have a good, big, time taking in the many things of interest and excitement. Come, mix and mingle with your old friends from the different parts of the state, as well as for forming new acquaintances. It will do you good.

Sincerely yours,

Across the River

So much has happened in the last few weeks I'm afraid I can't tell things in the right order.

The Reva Nelson and Thurman had a very successful meeting with the assistance of some old fashioned cottage prayer services.

Misses Elaine Ahart and Lucile Harris were guests of Miss Cornelia Spiceland during the revival, and Miss Louise Miller was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Linus Spiceland.

But I must tell you about our trip to the Chicago Fair. So many go then come back and never mention it, but to me it isn't just a casual event.

Mrs. Misses Eupile and Ruby Dilday, Miss Pearl Gray, Miss Louise Aerie, Miss Grace Vincent, Miss Hazel Dennis, Miss Christine Griffin, Miss Cornelia Spiceland, Mrs. Estelle Spiceland and Messrs. Laine and Clyde Spiceland, Ray Wilford, Ramond Kirks, Joe Wimberly and a boy from Dover chartered a bus to be driven by Croby Cherry and started to Chicago Saturday morning. We arrived at our destination Sunday morning in time for breakfast.

We rented an apartment at the Jerome Hotel, then started to the Fair. Mr. and Mrs. Linus Spiceland and Miss Cornelia Spiceland and Ramond Kirks spent Sunday night with Mrs. Emma Nance and family and enjoyed this visit immensely.

Monday and Tuesday we "took in" the fair, or rather a small portion which we could cover in so short a time. I could not begin to tell what all we saw there, nor could I attempt to describe the vastness of the city itself as we viewed it from the top of the largest cash store in the world, Marshall Field's.

We started home at 5:30 Wednesday afternoon and arrived here early Thursday afternoon, every one agreeing that they had had a wonderful trip, besides having had much of fun among themselves on the bus.

Now you want to know if I am any better off since I took that trip? Yes, I'm wiser in many respects and more content than I have ever been in my life. Why? Because I'm back home to simplicity and quietude where, tall green trees surround me instead of skyscrapers, where the chirp of birds and chickens soothe my nerves which are wrecked with the roar of elevated trains and other clamors of a great city. I have work to do, yes, but I can go about it leisurely. I don't have to rush to avoid being crushed or lost or left. My grocery is in the garden, orchard or field, my friends and loved ones are within my reach.

Call me simple if you want to, but the I enjoyed my trip to Chicago to the fullest, today I am enjoying just as immensely being back home again. "Chatterbox"

A well balanced Concord team edged out a victory over Hazel last Friday afternoon. The game was close all the way with Concord winning 7-6 in the last half of the ninth.

Brandon and Chrisman showed coolness and control throughout the game. Hazel's errors helped Concord to push across the winning tally. Hazel plays Faxon Friday and a good game is expected.

Chamber of Commerce Making Survey of District Resources

B. L. J. Martin,
Secretary Murray Chamber of Commerce

Anticipating the construction of the Aurora Dam, a huge $45,000,000 project, on the Tennessee River near here, the Murray Chamber of Commerce is making a survey of the resources of West Kentucky and particularly of Murray and Calloway County. The following general data has been tabulated:

Murray, Ky., is the county seat of Calloway County, located in the "Purchase" region of southwestern Kentucky; just west of the Tennessee River. The population of the city in 1930 was 2,891. At the edge of the city is a modern 4-year state teachers college with about 1000 students in attendance per semester. With the population of "College Addition" included, the population of the town will be between 4,000 and 5,000. The census of the county in 1930 showed 17,662 persons.

Almost a perfect rectangle in shape, Calloway County covers an area of 395 miles or 252,800 acres, flanked on the south by the state of Tennessee, on the east by the Tennessee River, on the north by Marshall County, and on the west by Graves County.

Murray and Calloway County are fortunate in that they are in the heart of the area of the AURORA DAM, a $45,000,000 project, included in the vast program of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Congress at its last session allocated sufficient funds for the TVA to proceed soon on the dam. Dr. A. E. Morgan, TVA chairman, in an "Aurora Dam" meeting here this summer assured this section that the dam would be a part of the "integrated program" of the TVA, furnishing employment for thousands of persons, providing cheap power to countless industries and consumers, reclaiming land and forests, improving the social conditions of the community, and "electrifying" the community in general.

Two state highways run from east to west and from north to south intersecting at Murray. Railroad, airport, and bus facilities are modern and adequate. Calloway County has practically no pauperism and no illiteracy. The people are Anglo-Saxon in descent, home-owning, and home-loving. Two outstanding hospitals—two senior high schools, a state teachers college, and an exemplary county school and health system assure its citizens of careful attention to the health and education phases of life here.

Calloway County and Murray are in a "key" position to the whole of the United States—8 miles to Tennessee, the Sunny South, not far from Old Virginia of the East, 50 miles from Missouri and Arkansas to the West, 40 miles from Illinois and the industrial North.

An equable climate makes Murray and Calloway County ideal not only for health and physical comfort, but also for the production and marketing of foodstuffs and industrial commodities. As the headquarters for the Western Dark-Fired Tobacco Growers Association and the home of tobacco factories, loose-leaf floors, exporting firms, etc., Murray is famous nationally and internationally for the quality and quantity of its tobacco. Plans are already made for the opening of a nicotine extraction plant near here this fall that promises to mean much to the grower and dealer of tobacco.

Cotton, corn, wheat, lespedeza, fruit, berries, vegetables, watermelons, hay, pasture land—these are but a few of the agricultural assets of the community. With a modern milk plant and up-to-date marketing facilities, dairying in Calloway County is perhaps unexcelled by any other community in this section.

Thriving and sincere churches, some of them of great historic interest, and law infractions are extremely infrequent. Outside of Murray, Calloway County has several towns and trading points which cooperate wholeheartedly with the county seat: Hazel, Lynn Grove, Kiskadee, Crossland, Harris Grove, Providence, New Concord, Grove, Almota, Stella, Coldwater, Browns' Grove, Brandon's Mill, Backsburg, and Newberg.

Murray State College, fully accredited by all the accrediting associations of the nation, is a standard 4-year liberal arts and teachers college. Its physical plant is valued at about $1,500,000. Expenses for attending are very low. Its football team last year was one of the six united and undefeated teams in the nation and it won the S. I. A. A. championship. Murray's debating team won the double championship of the Mid-South.

"The Birthplace of Radio" is the title of which Murray citizens are justly proud when speaking of the traditions of the city and county. The World Almanac of this year lists Nathan B. Stubblefield, native of this county, as the inventor of radio. Other authoritative books, including "Famous First Facts," published by H. W. Wilson and Co., have officially credited this genius with the first demonstration of broadcasting and receiving of the human voice without wires. A monument was erected on the Murray College campus in 1930 in honor of Stubblefield who died March 28, 1928.

Murray's plans for the future are many and varied. Application has been made by the Murray Chamber of Commerce with Dr. Morgan, TVA chairman, to make Murray headquarters for the Aurora Dam on the Tennessee River near here. Several well-chosen industries and factories will be added soon, especially with the advent of cheap power to be provided by the TVA. More and better roads are being built each year. The new municipal airport will be improved. Schools, churches, factories, business and professional establishments, etc., are being added and improved each season.

It is hoped that a Federal marker can be secured for the invention of radio, with perhaps the addition of "broadcasting station." The Murray Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, the Young Business Men's Club, and the women's clubs, as well as many others, are constantly increasing in membership and usefulness. ## Senator Turner Describes Dream of Aurora Dam and Benefit to This Area

Aurora Dam. That is what we call the lower or Northern Tennessee River Power Dam. There is a point near Eggers Ferry called Aurora. There is a store and the boat landing at Eggers which is called Aurora, and the opposite landing on the Trigg county side is called East Aurora. But the meaning of the word "Aurora," a brilliant sky at night; in northern latitudes called aurora borealis or northern lights; in the southern latitudes called aurora australis or southern lights—the glow of early dawn.

We would think of this great project as the dawn of this lower Tennessee Valley and this section. It is our opportunity to get an industrial center here to create cheap power for every purpose.

To hook up this section with the great development of the Tennessee Valley improvement, which will unite in one great power current from eight dams on the Tennessee River and tributaries.

Immense Watershed
Let us look briefly at the watershed of the Tennessee River. The valley of the Tennessee consists of about 26,000,000 acres, in seven states, 860 miles in its meanderings from the source of tributaries to the Ohio at Paducah, but to look aside to every useful tributary of all streams, there would be 2,500 miles of it.

Two million people live in the valley proper now, but ten or twelve million will be attracted and benefited very particularly with this improvement.

The government is now looking for the clay deposits and iron, coal, limestone, phosphate, zinc, lead, up from Pickwick Dam, but it is down stream just the same; Aurora would be 47 miles from Paducah as the river runs very straight down that way.

Flood Control To Be Assured
When all of this river is harnessed, instead of being a menace to the people in times of high water which so frequently destroys all the crops in the valley. The highlands will be brought back to cultivation, grazing and growth of timber so that those now living in the valley will have an opportunity to go to the highlands and live and be in close range of the industrial centers so that employment will be mixed along with their farming, and during the season of the year when crops are harvested there will be factory work for the people to earn money for a livelihood.

There will be all the modern equipment in each home in the country on account of cheap power. The Tennessee River power when completed will alone furnish one-fourth of the power that is anticipated to be used in 1960 by the United States people.

This project is to include first of a seven-point program which is reforestation, converting marginal lands, restoring the Ohio and Mississippi valley bottom lands to a great farming area by preventing the great floods, flood control, navigation, cheaper transportation for heavy and slow-moving freight, power, industrial decentralization.

Source of Fertilizer
This great power plant will give a new source of great fertilizer production of nitrogen from the air, and production of phosphates from the land.

The Aurora Dam will be at the top 352 feet above sea level, the water level below the dam will be 311 feet above sea level, making the dam 41 feet above the 12-foot water stage below the dam. All this is approximate.

The value of Aurora is to back the water to Pickwick 193 miles and give at the least a 15-foot navigation depth. It will do away with the necessity of four-low navigation dams.

It will bring the entire connected unit 200 miles north of the nearest unit—Wilson Dam. It will make a lake of 173,000 acres. It will have a shore line of 1,500 miles. It will be the largest artificial body of water in the world. It will be the largest body of water in the United States inland. It will be a sportsman's paradise. The fish and game will go a great way toward feeding the people.

It will attract throngs of people to the boating, fishing and hunting.

Cheap Electric Appliances

The Authority proposes to have manufactured home equipment and sell an electric refrigerator for not over $80.00; stove not over $70.00; washing machine not over $25.00; churn not over $10.00. This power when prepared in your home, these things will be sold on monthly installments—power and all not over $7.00 or $8.00. What a hope for the young people of today to live for.

They will come back home to work in the factories and live with their loved ones to their native land.

I cannot hope to live to enjoy this great progress which will grow and grow, but to have part in bringing it about is the delight of my life, and to see the young people catch the vision and know they will carry on is an inspiration.

There is a menace to this progress, not much to effect it permanently but to retard quick progress. It is this: The United States engineers have for years envisioned this great program, and at the beginning of the World War when prepared in your home, these things will be sold on monthly installments—power and all not over $7.00 or $8.00. What a hope for the young people of today to live for.

They will come back home to work in the factories and live with their loved ones to their native land.

I cannot hope to live to enjoy this great progress which will grow and grow, but to have part in bringing it about is the delight of my life, and to see the young people catch the vision and know they will carry on is an inspiration.

There is a menace to this progress, not much to effect it permanently but to retard quick progress. It is this: The United States engineers have for years envisioned this great program, and at the beginning of the World War when prepared in your home, these things will be sold on monthly installments—power and all not over $7.00 or $8.00. What a hope for the young people of today to live for.

We collected from our local membership money and at last were supported financially in our activities. We thought that we should employ a high-powered contact man lobbyist if you please to stay in Washington, but after getting Congressman Gregory and Gordon Browning to work on the matter last fall in Washington during the recess of Congress.

Senator Barkley being abroad in some foreign land, but when he came back in October, he joined us in the fight. This spring during the last Congress Gregory and Browning have been on the job and handled it so well it was not necessary to have the hired man in Washington and saved us that money which was from voluntary gifts of our members and in many cases was hard to get.

Browning left Washington about May first to make the race for the United States Senate in Tennessee and left the burden on Gregory. Mr. W. S. Swann and others of the Association went up to Washington the last of June and have Gregory help and he stayed there some time after Congress adjourned arranging for an arbitration by the War Department of the private interest which is in our way.

Hearing To Be Held Soon

Now the necessity for Gregory to come to Kentucky and the adjournment of Congress puts off the hearing until probably the last of August. Senator Barkley will be back and Mr. Gregory who has been in a position to be more familiar with the arbitration proceedings is back. So progress should be made now, and we hope to see real activity in the clearing of lands and locating the place for the dam.

If I live 20 years I expect to see a change in this section that would make us think of a great dream. A great industrial center in this country, a wonderful valley to be transformed into a great agricultural section free from bad overflows, except near the Ohio, and that will not be so bad when the Tennessee valley is held back; and all the ridge lands in this section of Kentucky and Tennessee cleared, and all the gulches stopped with Korean and other clovers and grasses growing everywhere, no more thorn thickets and wild growth, with only useful trees shade and timber will be allowed to grow.

Can you visualize this picture with every knob or hill with modern homes, good grazing, plenty of dairy cows, poultry and everything to make life a pleasure with plenty of work for everyone.

Why not start now to clearing these hills, stopping gulleys and make your waste lands attractive to the new-comers. A little effort on your part now while you have a position to be very profitable.

Don't destroy straight, useful kinds of bushes, only trim them up, leave plenty of them standing. Next February or early in March sow Korean seed on the top of the hills on the hard ground—no seed bed necessary. This will soon cover the hillside. Common, uncultivated seed will do anything cheap—not necessary to have re-cleaned seed. Even little bunches of the hay scattered about over the hills will start the growth if the seed is ripe when cut.

Now is the time for the hill land owners to benefit if he will get busy; and the West side farmers should clear the fence rows and wild thickets. Make your places more attractive if you want to sell or keep up with this great progress. No wild speculation but real growth is what is desired.
